

Northern Wheatear (Oenanthe oenanthe)

Status: Common breeder

Current trend: Once more, the map shows a species' distribution which may only reflect part of the true picture. Little is known about population changes or overall numbers, but visits to regular sites have provided some data which suggests the maintenance of breeding numbers with little or no decline shown. It continues to be bird more closely linked with upland areas less affected by human use.

Follow up: Continued visits to regularly covered sites to discover if population change is occurring.
